

Relax.

VanStar knows where your belongings are.

United Van Lines knows where your shipment is, and you can too. With VanStar, United's satellite location system, you can easily locate your belongings.

VanStar uses satellite technology to pinpoint your moving van's location every three hours and electronically update United's data center. This allows you to track your shipment's progress through our online tracking system, simply by logging on to UnitedVanLines.com.

You can relax knowing your belongings are under VanStar's watchful eye.

VanStar technology may not be available on all vans and moving equipment. See your United representative for details.
